

The role of numerical models in climate scenarios and services

In what contexts do regional models add value relative to global models ?

What is the rationale for post-processing ?

What assumptions are made in both the direct use and the post-processing of climate simulations ?

How must climate simulations and scenarios be interpreted ?

For what type of impacts and adaptation studies can simulations be used directly ?

